

Jesus says... My Brides, lay down your Lives & Stand beside Me

August 10, 2016 - Words from Jesus to Sister Clare

Jesus began... "I am calling you, My Brides, to lay down your lives and stand beside Me in this race against Satan's tyranny in this country and the world. I am calling you now and for the next three years to lay down your agendas for being in Heaven and give Me your whole hearts as an offering for this country and the world."

"As America goes, so goes the rest of the world. And now it is your mandate as My Spouse to stand for what is right. Back Me up. Pray, offering every cross you are given, for My Kingdom comes, My Will be done. You, as intercessors, are standing at the pivotal point of the entire world's salvation. As this country goes, so will the world follow, and this is but the beginning of a purging of evil in the entire world."

"Can I count on you to back Me up? Can I count on you to stop beating My messengers and pray about what is truly important to Me? Can I count on you to be focusing on My agenda, rather than your religious agendas and finding fault with everyone and everything I send you?"

"Some of you are so wrapped up in your own opinions and your own lives that you refuse to hearken to My messengers. To you I say: strengthen what remains, lest I come and take even that from you. Walk on the straight and narrow path, not the path of your flesh and fancies. Lay down your lives for Me, lay down your opinions, political and religious agendas. Lay down your critical spirits and stop tearing My Kingdom and people to pieces."

"Those of you who will not hearken to this message will find life increasingly difficult, as I allow you to be sifted as never before. Perhaps then it will dawn on you that you are not gathering with Me, but dividing and scattering. Perhaps then you will realize, even as the conscience of America has realized, that she has been asleep to the realities and allowing her nation to be stolen piece by piece."

"In your lives, as things are taken from you, will you wake up and stop dividing My Body? I give you this word now, because I am sorely disappointed in you. Where I expected to depend on you for support and encouragement, you have dissembled and destroyed. Perhaps you will see this as the weeks go by, and you notice things are being divided and taken from your lives. Wake up, those of you who think you are for Me! Wake up and stand on the right side."

"And for you, My Brides, who have faithfully stood by Me on this channel. I will visit you with My choicest blessings and hold you tenderly in My arms, where I shall restore your souls. Drink from the living waters of My heart, drink deeply and be restored, refreshed and prepared for the battles ahead. With Me and for Me, you shall do valiantly."
