

Jesus explains... God's Guidance, God's Will or Permission?

July 20, 1954 - Message 6006 from Jesus through Bertha Dudde

How often do you experience My guidance without recognizing it, and how often could you take a step forward, for everything you experience serves only your perfection. You can be convinced that I only want to promote your perfection, that everything that is conducive to the upward development of your soul happens through Me. If it is not evaluated, it is not My will, but yours, and you shape your own destiny; you yourselves take precautions for your ascent or your relapse into the depths.

But as long as you remain on earth, My guidance is assured, if only you are willing to accept it. Yes, I follow you, unrecognized by you, and am always ready to take over the guidance if you lose your way or stand indecisively at a crossroads. I will always urge you onto the right path in the form of experiences that may give you food for thought if you are attentive. Nothing happens arbitrarily, and nothing could be carried out if I did not give My permission. Therefore, every event may be regarded as a mission on My part, or at least as My permission, which always aims at a higher goal.

Even though you care little for Me, I care all the more for you, and what you do not do of your own accord will be suggested to you, as it were, through experiences that are intended to shake you out of a state of slumber into which your carelessness had led you, or you will be inspired to greater striving if you belong to Me, but become lukewarm and indifferent. You must not remain in the same state, you must strive upwards, towards the light, and which is why you will often be jolted by external influences, that you will not sink too deeply into earthly matters, but direct your gaze more towards the spiritual.

For your goal is solely above. I wish to guide your paths upward, and help will come to you visibly from above as well, which will make your ascent easier. From above, a hand will be stretched out to you, and you shall grasp it, for truly, it reaches down even into the deepest depths. But on earth I will court you with all love, I will not cease until your physical death to bring you the light of knowledge, by continually admonishing you to work in love, which alone will lead you into the deepest truth and will give you the strength to ascend to the luminous heights... Amen
